From the Nominator:

How long have you known the nominee? And in what capacity?

3 Years. In my previous role and hers, my team sought to align business offerings with her team's and now we are frequently working together on go-to-market strategies.

Describe ways in which person has demonstrated a commitment to the industry via activities in their company, involvement with professional organizations such as PLUS, or other extracurricular activities related to PL.

Within the past year, Jess has taken over as the Chief Marketing Officer for the International Women in Cyber Alliance (IWCA) and as SVP of CIS at Kroll. Previously, Jess was a key Client Manager at Lockton. Jess continuously culminates a learning environment in her current role to enhance the knowledge of colleagues and peers in the industry for many topics centered around insurance, including professional liability, underwriting, claims, and more. Jess also brings a focus on diversity in the marketplace through her key marketing role and background in the IWCA.

How has this person already uniquely contributed to the PL industry?

Jess has been a staple in the insurance industry since her beginnings at Lockton with involvement in many areas of insurance policy procurements. Jess moved into a specialty in the cyber space in her role at Kroll, where she is at the forefront of Business Development efforts and Thought Leadership. Jess also has a key leadership role as the Chief Marketing Officer at the International Women in Cyber Association, which has won the newcomer of the year award as an organization at the Zywave Awards.

Why do you consider this person to be an emerging leader in the PL industry?

Anybody who has spent time around Jess can see right away that she is a creative innovator, who centers new ideas for education and inclusion to the marketplace. We rely heavily on Jess' ideas and leadership in this space.
